NATURE OF ACTION

1. This lawsuit is brought as a proposed class action against Defendants DENSO Corporation, ASMO Co., Ltd., ASMO North America, LLC, ASMO Greenville of North Carolina, Inc., and DENSO International America, Inc. (collectively, “DENSO”), Mitsuba Corporation, and American Mitsuba Corporation (collectively, “Mitsuba”), Robert Bosch GmbH, Bosch Electrical Drives Co., Ltd., Robert Bosch LLC (collectively, “Bosch”) (collectively with DENSO and Mitsuba, “Defendants”), and unnamed co-conspirators, manufacturers and/or suppliers of Windshield Wiper Systems (defined below) for engaging in a long-running conspiracy to unlawfully fix, artificially raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids for, and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Windshield Wiper Systems.

2. Plaintiffs seek to represent all persons and entities who, during the period from and including January 1, 2000 through such time as the anticompetitive effects of the Defendants' conduct ceased (the "Class Period"), purchased or leased a new vehicle in the United States for personal use and not for resale which included one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) as a component part, or indirectly purchased one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) as a replacement part, which were manufactured or sold by the Defendants, any current or former subsidiary of the Defendants or any co-conspirator of the Defendants.

3. "Windshield Wiper Systems", whether sold together or separately, are defined to include one or more of the following: the motor, linkage, arm and blade necessary to clear water or snow from vehicle windows.

4. The Defendants manufacture, market, and sell Windshield Wiper Systems throughout and into the United States. The Defendants and other co-conspirators (as yet unknown) agreed, combined and conspired to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, and allocate market shares for Windshield Wiper Systems.

5. The U.S. Department of Justice's ("DOJ") Antitrust Division is currently conducting a broad criminal investigation into illegal price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry. As part of its criminal investigation, the DOJ is seeking information about unlawful anticompetitive conduct in the market for a number of different but related automotive parts, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") has participated in raids, pursuant to search warrants, carried out in the offices of a number of major competitors in the automotive parts industry. The automotive parts investigation is the largest criminal investigation the Antitrust Division has ever pursued, both in terms of its scope and the potential volume of commerce affected by the alleged illegal conduct. The ongoing cartel investigation of price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry has yielded more than $1.8 billion in criminal fines, already surpassing the total amount in criminal fines obtained by the DOJ's Antitrust Division for all of last fiscal year. The European Commission Competition Authority ("EC") has also conducted dawn raids at the European offices of several automotive parts manufacturers.

6. On September 26, 2013, the DOJ announced that Defendant Mitsuba Corporation agreed to plead guilty and pay a $135 million criminal fine for its role in a conspiracy to fix prices of Windshield Wiper Systems, among other automotive parts, installed in automobiles sold in the United States and elsewhere.

7. The Defendants and their co-conspirators participated in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, Windshield Wiper Systems sold to automobile manufacturers and others in the United States. The combination and conspiracy engaged in by the Defendants and their co-conspirators was in unreasonable restraint of interstate and foreign trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1, and state antitrust, unfair competition and consumer protection laws.

8. As a direct result of the anti-competitive and unlawful conduct alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the Classes (as defined below) paid artificially inflated prices for Windshield Wiper Systems during the Class Period and have thereby suffered antitrust injury to their business or property.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

9. Plaintiffs bring this action under Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26) to secure equitable and injunctive relief against the Defendants for violating Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1). Plaintiffs also assert claims for actual and exemplary damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition and consumer protection laws, and seek to recover damages and secure other relief against the Defendants for violations of those state laws. Plaintiffs and the Classes also seek attorneys' fees, costs, and other expenses under federal and state law.

10. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this action pursuant to Section 16 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 26), Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1), and Title 28, United States Code, Sections 1331 and 1337. This Court has subject matter jurisdiction of the state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d) and 1367, in that: (i) this is a class action in which the matter or controversy exceeds the sum of $5,000,000, exclusive of interests and costs, and in which some members of the proposed Classes are citizens of a state different from the Defendants; and (ii) Plaintiffs' state law claims form part of the same case or controversy as their federal claims under Article III of the United States Constitution.

11. Venue is proper in this District pursuant to Section 12 of the Clayton Act (15 U.S.C. § 22), and 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391 (b), (c), and (d), because a substantial part of the events giving rise to Plaintiffs' claims occurred in this District, a substantial portion of the affected interstate trade and commerce discussed below has been carried out in this District, and the Defendants reside, are licensed to do business in, are doing business in, had agents in, or are found or transact business in this District.

12. This Court has in personam jurisdiction over the Defendants because the Defendants, either directly or through the ownership and/or control of their subsidiaries, inter alia: (a) transacted business in the United States, including in this District; (b) directly or indirectly sold or marketed substantial quantities of Windshield Wiper Systems throughout the United States, including in this District; (c) had substantial aggregate contacts with the United States as a whole, including in this District; or (d) were engaged in an illegal price-fixing conspiracy that was directed at, and had a direct, substantial, reasonably foreseeable and intended effect of causing injury to the business or property of persons and entities residing in, located in, or doing business throughout the United States, including in this District. The Defendants also conduct business throughout the United States, including in this District, and have purposefully availed themselves of the laws of the United States.

13. The Defendants engaged in conduct both inside and outside of the United States that caused direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable and intended anticompetitive effects upon interstate commerce within the United States.

14. The activities of the Defendants and their co-conspirators were within the flow of, were intended to, and did have, a substantial effect on interstate commerce of the United States. The Defendants' products are sold in the flow of interstate commerce.

15. Windshield Wiper Systems manufactured abroad by the Defendants and sold for use in automobiles in the United States are goods brought into the United States for sale, and therefore constitute import commerce. To the extent any Windshield Wiper Systems are purchased in the United States, and such Windshield Wiper Systems do not constitute import commerce, the Defendants' unlawful activities with respect thereto, as more fully alleged herein during the Class Period, had, and continue to have, a direct, substantial and reasonably foreseeable effect on United States commerce. The anticompetitive conduct, and its effect on

United States commerce described herein, proximately caused antitrust injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes in the United States.

16. By reason of the unlawful activities hereinafter alleged, the Defendants substantially affected commerce throughout the United States, causing injury to Plaintiffs and members of the Classes. The Defendants, directly and through their agents, engaged in activities affecting all states, to fix, raise, maintain and/or stabilize prices, rig bids and allocate the market and customers in the United States for Windshield Wiper Systems, which conspiracy unreasonably restrained trade and adversely affected the market for Windshield Wiper Systems.

17. The Defendants' conspiracy and wrongdoing described herein adversely affected persons in the United States who purchased Windshield Wiper Systems for personal use and not for resale, including Plaintiffs and members of the Classes.

AGENTS AND CO-CONSPIRATORS

81. Each Defendant acted as the principal of or agent for the other Defendant with respect to the acts, violations, and common course of conduct alleged herein.

82. Various persons, partnerships, sole proprietors, firms, corporations and individuals not named as defendants in this lawsuit, and individuals, the identities of which are presently unknown, have participated as co-conspirators with the Defendants in the offenses alleged in this Complaint, and have performed acts and made statements in furtherance of the conspiracy or in furtherance of the anticompetitive conduct.

83. Whenever in this Complaint reference is made to any act, deed or transaction of any corporation or limited liability entity, the allegation means that the corporation or limited liability entity engaged in the act, deed or transaction by or through its officers, directors, agents, employees or representatives while they were actively engaged in the management, direction, control or transaction of the corporation's or limited liability entity's business or affairs.

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

A. The Windshield Wiper Systems Industry

85. Windshield Wiper Systems are installed by original equipment manufacturers (“OEMs”) in new cars as part of the automotive manufacturing process. They are also installed by OEMs in cars to replace worn out, defective or damaged Windshield Wiper Systems.

86. For new cars, the OEMs—mostly large automotive manufacturers such as Honda Motor Company Ltd., Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd., Nissan Motor Company Ltd., Toyota Motor Corporation and Chrysler Group LLC – purchase Windshield Wiper Systems directly from Defendants. Windshield Wiper Systems may also be purchased by component manufacturers who then supply such systems to OEMs. These component manufacturers are also called “Tier 1 Manufacturers” in the industry. Tier 1 Manufacturers supply Windshield Wiper Systems directly to an OEM.

87. When purchasing Windshield Wiper Systems, OEMs issue Requests for Quotation (“RFQs”) to automotive parts suppliers on a model-by-model basis for model specific parts. Automotive parts suppliers submit quotations, or bids, to OEMs in response to RFQs, and the OEMs usually award the business to the selected automotive parts supplier for the lifespan of the model, which is usually four to six years. Typically, the bidding process for a particular model begins approximately three years prior to the start of production of a new model. OEMs procure parts for U.S.-manufactured vehicles in the United States and elsewhere.

88. The Defendants and their co-conspirators supplied Windshield Wiper Systems to OEMs for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States and elsewhere. Defendants and their co-conspirators manufactured Windshield Wiper Systems (a) in the United States and elsewhere for installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, (b) in Japan and elsewhere for export to the United States and installation in vehicles manufactured and sold in the United States, and (c) in Japan and elsewhere for installation in vehicles manufactured in Japan and elsewhere for export to and sale in the United States.

89. Plaintiffs and members of the proposed Classes purchased Windshield Wiper Systems indirectly from the Defendants. By way of example, an owner of a vehicle may indirectly purchase one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) from the Defendants as part of purchasing or leasing a new vehicle. An owner of a vehicle may also indirectly purchase for replacement one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) from the Defendants when repairing a damaged vehicle or where one or more of the vehicle’s Windshield Wiper System(s) are defective.

90. In 2011, the U.S. OEM market for Windshield Wiper Systems was $541.67 million.

B. The Structure and Characteristics of the Windshield Wiper Systems Market Render the Conspiracy More Plausible

91. The structure and other characteristics of the Windshield Wiper Systems market in the United States are conducive to a price-fixing agreement, and have made collusion particularly attractive in this market. Specifically, the Windshield Wiper Systems market: (1) has high barriers to entry; and (2) has inelasticity of demand; and (3) is highly concentrated.

1. The Windshield Wiper Systems Market Has High Barriers to Entry

92. A collusive arrangement that raises product prices above competitive levels would, under basic economic principles, attract new entrants seeking to benefit from the supra-competitive pricing. Where, however, there are significant barriers to entry, new entrants are less likely. Thus, barriers to entry help to facilitate the formation and maintenance of a cartel.

93. There are substantial barriers that preclude, reduce, or make more difficult entry into the Windshield Wiper Systems market. A new entrant into the business would face costly and lengthy start-up costs, including multi-million dollar costs associated with manufacturing plants and equipment, energy, transportation, distribution infrastructure, and long-standing customer relationships.

94. The Defendants own several patents related to the manufacture of Windshield Wiper Systems. These patents place a significant and costly burden on potential new entrants, who must avoid infringing on the patents when entering the market with a new product.

95. In addition, OEMs cannot change Windshield Wiper Systems suppliers randomly after a supplier is initially selected because the OEMs design the features of their vehicles so that the Windshield Wiper Systems they purchase for a vehicle are then integrated with the other components of the particular vehicle model. Thus, the design must be synergized by the Windshield Wiper Systems manufacturers and OEMs. It would be difficult for a new market entrant to do so.

2. There is Inelasticity of Demand for Windshield Wiper Systems

96. “Elasticity” is a term used to describe the sensitivity of supply and demand to changes in one or the other. For example, demand is said to be “inelastic” if an increase in the price of a product results in only a small decline in the quantity sold of that product, if any. In other words, customers have nowhere to turn for alternative, cheaper products of similar quality, and so continue to purchase despite a price increase.

97. For a cartel to profit from raising prices above competitive levels, demand must be relatively inelastic at competitive prices. Otherwise, increased prices would result in declining sales, revenues, and profits, as customers purchased substitute products or declined to buy altogether. Inelastic demand is a market characteristic that facilitates collusion, allowing producers to raise their prices without triggering customer substitution and lost sales revenue.

98. Demand for Windshield Wiper Systems is highly inelastic because there are no close substitutes for these products. In addition, customers must purchase Windshield Wiper Systems as an essential part of a vehicle, even if the prices are kept at a supra-competitive level.

3. The Windshield Wipers Market is Highly Concentrated

99. A highly concentrated market is more susceptible to collusion and other anticompetitive practices. There is a high level of concentration among firms in the Windshield Wipers Systems market. According to a leading industry report, the top three suppliers of Windshield Wipers controlled approximately 70 percent of the North American market in 2010.

C. Government Investigations

100. A globally coordinated antitrust investigation is taking place in the United States, Europe, and Japan, aimed at suppliers of automotive parts. A Japan Fair Trade

Commission (“JFTC”) official told a leading legal publication that automotive parts supplier investigations by the JFTC, DOJ and EC would continue to widen because the automotive industry as a whole comprises many sub-industries. He characterized the investigations being conducted by the U.S., European and Japanese antitrust authorities as “large and broad,” and he declined to deny that this “would be history’s largest case.”

101. The DOJ Antitrust Division’s broad criminal investigation into illegal price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automotive parts industry is the largest criminal investigation the Antitrust Division has ever pursued. The ongoing cartel investigation of price-fixing and bid-rigging in the automobile parts industry has yielded more than $1.8 billion in criminal fines, already surpassing the total amount in criminal fines obtained by the DOJ’s Antitrust Division for all of last fiscal year.

102. In 2011, the JFTC began investigating various automotive parts manufacturers, probing allegations that these manufactures were allocating contracts to each other and to avoid competing for supply contracts with Honda, Nissan Motor Co., Ltd., Suzuki Motor Co. and Fuji Heavy Industries, Ltd., the owner of Subaru. The probe found that some of the automotive parts manufacturers had collusively agreed to split into varying groups for the differing purchasers and the different parts, including windshield wipers.

103. The JFTC raided offices of Defendants as part of the spreading investigation of suspected price-fixing of automotive parts. The companies raided included DENSO, which is affiliated with Toyota Motor Corp. and Mitsuba. According to its 2011 Annual Report, DENSO was investigated on July 20, 2011 at various locations, including in Kariya, Aichi and some other sales branches in Japan.

104. On November 22, 2012, the JFTC handed down fines totaling $41.3 million against various automotive parts manufacturers, including a $13.5 million fine against Mitsuba for violating antitrust laws by forming a cartel to fix prices for automotive parts, including windshield wipers. On November 22, 2012, the JFTC also announced cease-and-desist orders against the violating companies, requiring them to (i) immediately pass resolutions that they would terminate any illegal conduct; (ii) contact any automobile maker who may have purchased their parts through collusive bidding processes; and (iii) implement employee compliance programs. According to the JFTC, fellow conspirator DENSO also violated antitrust laws, but did not receive a cease-and-desist order.

105. The companies rigged the bidding process for supply contracts with automobile makers for automotive parts, including windshield wipers, by pre-selecting the winners and losers. The JFTC explained that these companies “substantially restrained competition in the fields of each product ordered by each automobile company, by designating successful bidders.”

106. On September 26, 2013, the DOJ announced that Defendant Mitsuba Corporation agreed to pay a $135 million criminal fine and to plead guilty to a two-count criminal information charging it with obstruction of justice and participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to allocate the supply of, rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive parts, including Windshield Wiper Systems, sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2000 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

107. According to the Information filed, Defendant Mitsuba Corporation and its co-conspirators carried out the Windshield Wiper Systems conspiracy by:

(a) participating in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and elsewhere to discuss the bids and price quotations to be submitted to automobile manufacturers<sup>1</sup> in the United States and elsewhere;

(b) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, on bids and price quotations to be submitted to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(c) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to allocate the supply of certain automotive parts, including Windshield Wiper Systems, sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(d) agreeing, during those meetings, conversations, and communications, to coordinate price adjustments requested by automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere;

(e) submitting bids, price quotations, and price adjustments to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in accordance with the agreements reached;

(f) selling certain automotive parts, including Windshield Wiper Systems, to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices; and

(g) accepting payment for certain automotive parts, including Windshield Wiper Systems, sold to automobile manufacturers in the United State and elsewhere at collusive and noncompetitive prices;

(h) engaging in meetings, conversations, and communications in the United States and elsewhere for the purpose of monitoring and enforcing adherence to the agreed-upon bid-rigging and price-fixing scheme; and

(i) employing measures to keep their conduct secret, including, but not limited to, using code names and meeting at remote locations.

108. With respect to the obstruction of justice count, the criminal information charged as follows:

In or about February 2010, Executive A, acting on Defendant's behalf, knowingly altered, destroyed, mutilated, concealed, covered up, falsified and made false entries in records, documents and tangible objects with the intent to impede, obstruct, and influence the investigation and proper administration of a matter within the jurisdiction of a department and agency of the United States, to wit, an investigation by the FBI and the United States Department of Justice of possible violations of U.S. antitrust law, in relation to and contemplation of such matter and case, and furthermore did order and command other employees of the Defendant to do so, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1519.

After becoming aware of the FBI search of Defendant's co-conspirator's U.S. offices, Executive A informed certain of his subordinates employed at the U.S. subsidiary of Defendant about the FBI search, and instructed such subordinates, as well as other employees of Defendant, to locate, conceal and destroy documents and electronic files that were likely to contain evidence of antitrust crimes in the United States and elsewhere.

Executive A concealed and destroyed documents and electronic files in his possession, custody and control in the Eastern District of Michigan that were likely to contain evidence of antitrust crimes in the United States and elsewhere. Certain of Executive A's subordinates and other employees of Defendant took acts in the Eastern District of Michigan and elsewhere to endeavor to conceal and destroy such documents and electronic files in the possession, custody and control of Defendant, and did conceal and destroy such documents and electronic files.

109. On December 23, 2013, news sources reported that South Korea's Fair Trade Commission ("KFTC") fined DENSO Corporation, and one of its Korean subsidiaries, and Bosch Electrical Drives Co., Ltd. for conspiring to fix the prices of windshield wipers sold between August 2008 and February 2009. DENSO was fined $63 billion won (approximately $59 million USD) for its participation in the windshield wiper price-fixing conspiracy.<sup>2</sup> Bosch Electrical Drives Co., Ltd. was fined $5.6 billion won (approximately $5.2 million USD) for its participation in the windshield wiper price-fixing conspiracy.

D. Likely Existence of a Cooperating Defendant

110. The Antitrust Criminal Penalty Enhancement and Reform Act (“ACPERA”) provides leniency benefits for a participant in a price-fixing conspiracy that voluntarily discloses its conduct to the Department of Justice. In most recent cases in which guilty pleas for price-fixing conduct have been obtained, there has been a cooperating party that has been accepted into the DOJ’s ACPERA program as an “amnesty applicant.” One of the leniency benefits for a conspirator that is accepted into the ACPERA program is that it is not charged with a criminal offense and is not required to plead guilty to criminal charges.

111. In light of the guilty plea in this case, in related automotive parts antitrust cases and the DOJ’s ongoing investigation into the industry, it is reasonable for this Court to infer that there is an ACPERA “amnesty applicant” in this case.

E. Guilty Pleas in Related Markets in the Automotive Industry

112. On January 30, 2012, the DOJ announced that Yazaki Corporation (“Yazaki”) had agreed to pay a $470 million criminal fine and plead guilty to a three-count criminal information charging Yazaki with: (1) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, automotive wire harnesses and related products sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as January 2000 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1; (2) participating in a combination and conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of, instrument panel clusters sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere, from at least as early as December 2002 until at least February 2010, in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1; and (3) participating in a combination and conspiracy with its co-conspirators to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of fuel senders sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere from at least as early as March 2004 and continuing until at least February 2010 in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1.

113. In addition to Yazaki, five executives from Yazaki (all Japanese nationals) – Tsuneaki Hanamura, Ryoji Kawai, Shigeru Ogawa, Kazuhiko Kashimoto and Hisamitsu Takada – pleaded guilty to their participation in a conspiracy to suppress and eliminate competition in the automotive parts industry by agreeing to rig bids for, and to fix, stabilize, and maintain the prices of automotive wire harnesses sold to certain automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere in violation of the Sherman Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1. These five Yazaki executives will each pay a $20,000 criminal fine and serve prison time ranging from 15 months to two years. The two-year sentences would be the longest term of imprisonment imposed on a foreign national voluntarily submitting to U.S. jurisdiction for a Sherman Act antitrust violation.

114. On September 29, 2011, the DOJ announced that Furukawa Electric Co. Ltd. (“Furukawa”) had agreed to plead guilty and to pay a $200 million criminal fine for its role in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of automotive wire harnesses to automobile manufacturers.

115. Three of Furukawa’s executives also pleaded guilty to the same conspiracy. The court sentenced two of the executives to 15 and 18 month prison sentences, to be served in the United States.

116. On January 30, 2012, DENSO agreed to plead guilty to a two-count felony charge against DENSO for engaging in conspiracies to rig bids for and to fix, stabilize and maintain the prices of electronic control units (ECUs) and heater control panels (HCPs) sold to automobile manufacturers in the United States and elsewhere.

117. On March 26, 2012, a DENSO executive agreed to plead guilty in a criminal price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy involving the sale of heater control panels to automobile manufacturers.

118. On April 26, 2012, another DENSO executive agreed to plead guilty to the same conspiracy.

119. A number of additional companies have pleaded guilty in the United States and other jurisdictions to fixing the prices of other automotive parts, including: automotive wire harnesses; instrument panel clusters; fuel senders; heater control panels; occupant safety restraint systems; automotive bearings; starters; air flow meters; valve timing control devices; fuel injection systems; electronic throttle bodies; electric powered steering assemblies; inverters; motor generators; radiators; alternators; ignition coils; anti-vibration rubber parts, automatic transmission fluid warmers; switches; steering angle sensors; HID ballasts; air conditioning systems; automotive lamps; windshield washer systems; and constant-velocity-joint boots.

These companies include: Fujikura Ltd.; GS Electech, Inc.; TRW Deutschland Holding GmbH; Hitachi Automotive Systems, Ltd.; Autoliv, Inc.; Nippon Seiki Co., Ltd.; JTEKT Corporation; NSK Ltd.; Panasonic Corporation; Tokai Rika Co.; T.RAD Co., Ltd.; Mitsubishi Electric Corporation; Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Ltd.; Takata Corporation; Valeo Japan Co., Ltd.; Yamashita Rubber Co., Ltd.; Toyo Tire & Rubber Co. Ltd.; Stanley Electric Co. Ltd; and Koito Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

120. The U.S. government has said its automotive parts cartel criminal investigation will continue and other suppliers could be charged.

121. Sharis A. Pozen, then the Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department of Justice's Antitrust Division, said there is no doubt consumers were hurt financially by the automotive wire harness price-fixing conspiracy. She further stated: "By rigging bids . . . [automotive parts manufacturers engaged in a price-fixing conspiracy] inflated what some of their auto manufacturing clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars." She also explained that "[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers." Ms. Pozen also stated that "[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation's economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped." Ms. Pozen went on to say that there was no doubt that United States consumers were hurt financially by the cartel's activity. In a separate press statement, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into "pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers . . . ."

122. “This criminal activity has a significant impact on the automotive manufacturers in the United States, Canada, Japan and Europe and has been occurring for at least a decade. The conduct had also affected commerce on a global scale in almost every market where automobiles are manufactured and/or sold,” said FBI’s Special Agent in Charge Andrew G. Arena.

123. “When companies partner to control and price fix bids or contracts, it undermines the foundation of the United States’ economic system,” Arena also said. “The FBI is committed to aggressively pursuing any company involved in antitrust crimes.”

124. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ’s ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said “[t]he investigation is broader than what we’ve announced so far . . . . [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we’ve ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation.” (emphasis added).

125. On May 21, 2013, two DENSO executives agreed to plead guilty to conspiring to fix prices of Heater Control Panels. One of the two executives further agreed to plead guilty to conspiring to fix the prices of electronic control units, which regulate power windows, power locks and other electrical systems. The executives agreed to serve time in U.S. prison and pay a criminal fine.

126. On July 10, 2013, the EC fined four wire harness suppliers, Yazaki, S-Y Systems, Furukawa and Leoni, a total of $182 million for taking part in cartels that affected Toyota, Nissan, Honda and Renault.

127. On July 18, 2013, Panasonic Corporation agreed to pay a $45.8 million criminal fine and plead guilty to price-fixing allegations involving turn, wiper and other switches and steering angle sensors sold to Toyota and high intensity discharge ballasts sold to Honda, Mazda and Nissan among others.

128. On September 11, 2013, an executive of G.S. Electech, Inc. was indicted for a conspiracy to fix the prices of speed sensor wire assemblies.

129. On September 11, 2013, two Fujikura, Ltd. executives were indicted for conspiring to fix the price of wire harness assemblies sold to Fuji Heavy Industries, the maker of Subaru automobiles.

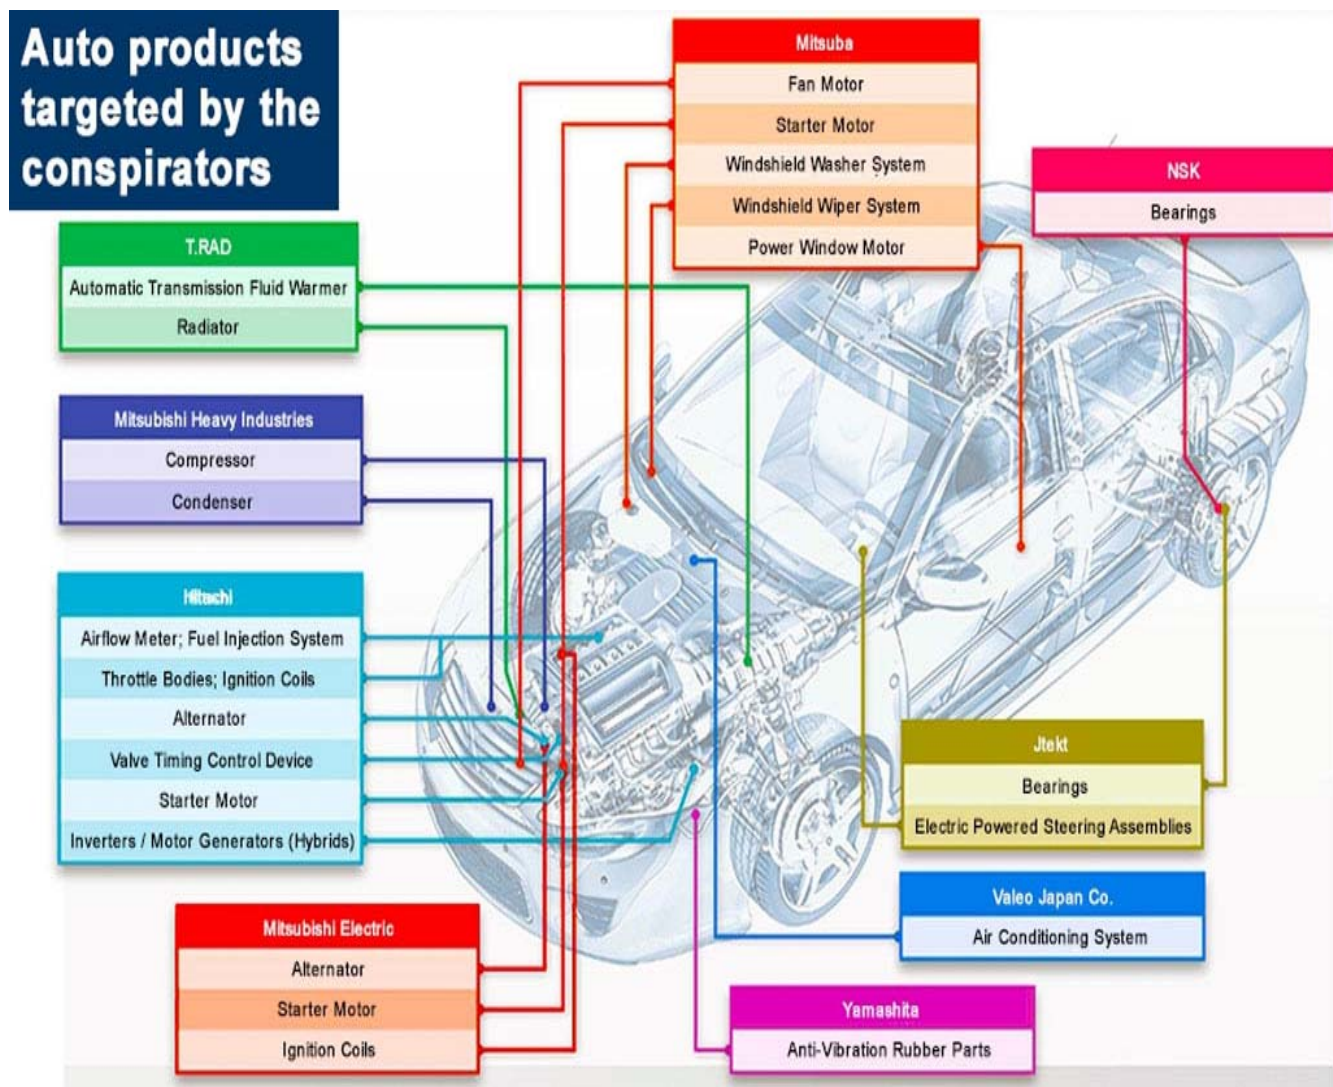

130. On September 24, 2013, a Panasonic Automotive Systems Corporation executive was indicted for a conspiracy to fix prices of switches and steering angle sensors sold to Toyota and installed in U.S. cars.

131. On September 26, 2013, nine additional Japanese automotive suppliers, including the Defendant Mitsuba Corporation, and two more executives agreed to plead guilty to conspiracy charges and pay more than $740 million in criminal fines for their roles in rigging the prices of more than 30 different products.

132. On the same day, September 26, 2013, United States Attorney General Eric Holder in the Antitrust Division presented the DOJ's most recent findings in the ongoing automotive parts investigation. He stated "[t]hese international price-fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automobile parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 25 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct." Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: "[c]ompany executives face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices and allocate the supply of auto parts sold to U.S. car companies. In order to keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to.” Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies “targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars.”

133. The diagram below, which was prepared by the DOJ, illustrates the recent guilty pleas and the corresponding automotive parts to which the various manufacturers have admitted price-fixing.

134. On October 9, 2013, Takata Corporation announced that it had agreed to pay $71.3 million to settle antitrust charges brought by the United States federal prosecutors for its part in a conspiracy to price-fix seatbelts.

135. On November 26, 2013, Toyo Tire & Rubber Co. Ltd. agreed to pay a $120 million criminal fine and plead guilty to price-fixing allegations involving anti-vibration rubber parts sold to Toyota Motor Corp., Nissan Motor Corp. and Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd. and constant-velocity-joint boots sold to U.S. subsidiaries of GKN plc, a British automotive parts supplier.

136. On November 27, 2013, Stanley Electric Co. Ltd. agreed to pay a $1.44 million criminal fine and plead guilty to price-fixing allegations involving high-intensity discharge (HID) lamp ballasts sold to automakers in the United States and elsewhere.

137. On January 16, 2014, Koito Manufacturing Co. Ltd. agreed to pay a $56.6 million criminal fine and plead guilty for its roles in separate price-fixing conspiracies involving automobile lighting fixtures and automotive high-intensity discharge (HID) lamp ballasts installed in cars sold in the United States and elsewhere.

138. To date, twenty-four companies and twenty-six executives have been charged in the Antitrust Division's ongoing investigation into price fixing and bid rigging in the auto parts industry. Each of the twenty-four companies have either pleaded guilty or have agreed to plead guilty and have agreed to pay more than $1.8 billion in criminal fines. Seventeen of the twenty-one executives have been sentenced to serve time in U.S. prisons or have entered into plea agreements.

CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

139. Plaintiffs bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, seeking equitable and injunctive relief on behalf of the following class (the "Nationwide Class"):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new vehicle in the United States for personal use and not for resale which included one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) as a component part, or indirectly purchased one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) as a replacement part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirator of the Defendants.

140. Plaintiffs also bring this action on behalf of themselves and as a class action under Rule 23(a) and (b)(3) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure seeking damages pursuant to state antitrust, unfair competition, and consumer protection laws on behalf of the following class (the “Damages Class”):

All persons and entities who, during the Class Period, purchased or leased a new vehicle in the Indirect Purchaser States<sup>3</sup> for personal use and not for resale which included one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) as a component part, or indirectly purchased one or more Windshield Wiper System(s) as a replacement part, which were manufactured or sold by a Defendant, any current or former subsidiary of a Defendant or any co-conspirator of the Defendants.

141. The Nationwide Class and the Damages Class are referred to herein as the “Classes.” Excluded from the Classes are the Defendants, their parent companies, subsidiaries and affiliates, any co-conspirators, federal governmental entities and instrumentalities of the federal government, states and their subdivisions, agencies and instrumentalities, and persons who purchased Windshield Wiper Systems directly or for resale.

142. While Plaintiffs do not know the exact number of the members of the Classes, Plaintiffs believe there are (at least) thousands of members in each Class.

143. Common questions of law and fact exist as to all members of the Classes. This is particularly true given the nature of the Defendants’ and their co-conspirators’ conspiracy, which was generally applicable to all the members of both Classes, thereby making appropriate relief with respect to the Classes as a whole. Such questions of law and fact common to the Classes include, but are not limited to:

(a) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators engaged in a combination and conspiracy among themselves to fix, raise, maintain or stabilize the prices of Windshield Wiper Systems sold in the United States;

<sup>3</sup> The Indirect Purchaser States are the states listed in the Second and Third Claims for Relief.

- (b) The identity of the participants of the alleged conspiracy;
- (c) The duration of the alleged conspiracy and the acts carried out by the Defendants and their co-conspirators in furtherance of the conspiracy;
- (d) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated the Sherman Act, as alleged in the First Claim for Relief;
- (e) Whether the alleged conspiracy violated state antitrust and unfair competition law, and/or state consumer protection law, as alleged in the Second and Third Claims for Relief;
- (f) Whether the conduct of the Defendants and their co-conspirators, as alleged in this Complaint, caused injury to the business or property of Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;
- (g) The effect of the alleged conspiracy on the prices of Windshield Wiper Systems sold in the United States during the Class Period;
- (h) Whether Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had any reason to know or suspect the conspiracy, or any means to discover the conspiracy;
- (i) Whether the Defendants and their co-conspirators fraudulently concealed the conspiracy's existence from Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes;
- (j) The appropriate injunctive and related equitable relief for the Nationwide Class; and
- (k) The appropriate class-wide measure of damages for the Damages Class.

144. Plaintiffs' claims are typical of the claims of the members of the Classes, and Plaintiffs will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the Classes. Plaintiffs and all members of the Classes are similarly affected by the Defendants' wrongful conduct in that they paid artificially inflated prices for Windshield Wiper Systems purchased indirectly from the Defendants and/or their co-conspirators.

145. Plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same common course of conduct giving rise to the claims of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs' interests are coincident with, and not antagonistic to, those of the other members of the Classes. Plaintiffs are represented by counsel who are competent and experienced in the prosecution of antitrust and class action litigation.

146. The questions of law and fact common to the members of the Classes predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, including legal and factual issues relating to liability and damages.

147. Class action treatment is a superior method for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy, in that, among other things, such treatment will permit a large number of similarly situated persons to prosecute their common claims in a single forum simultaneously, efficiently and without the unnecessary duplication of evidence, effort and expense that numerous individual actions would engender. The benefits of proceeding through the class mechanism, including providing injured persons or entities with a method for obtaining redress for claims that might not be practicable to pursue individually, substantially outweigh any difficulties that may arise in the management of this class action.

148. The prosecution of separate actions by individual members of the Classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications, establishing incompatible standards of conduct for the Defendants.

PLAINTIFFS AND THE CLASSES SUFFERED ANTITRUST INJURY

149. The Defendants' price-fixing conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

(a) Price competition has been restrained or eliminated with respect to Windshield Wiper Systems;

(b) The prices of Windshield Wiper Systems have been fixed, raised, maintained, or stabilized at artificially inflated levels;

(c) Indirect purchasers of Windshield Wiper Systems have been deprived of free and open competition; and

(d) Indirect purchasers of Windshield Wiper Systems paid artificially inflated prices.

150. During the Class Period, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes paid supracompetitive prices for Windshield Wiper Systems. These inflated prices have been passed on to them by OEMs and dealers.

151. The markets for Windshield Wiper Systems and vehicles are inextricably linked and intertwined because the market for Windshield Wiper Systems exists to serve the vehicle market. Without the vehicles, the Windshield Wiper Systems have little to no value because they have no independent utility. Indeed, the demand for vehicles creates the demand for Windshield Wiper Systems. As stated in the 2010 Annual Report of Lear Corporation, an automobile parts supplier: “Our sales are driven by the number of vehicles produced by the automotive manufacturers, which is ultimately dependent on consumer fleet demand for automotive vehicles.”

152. Windshield Wiper Systems are identifiable, discrete physical products that remain essentially unchanged when incorporated into a vehicle. As a result, Windshield Wiper Systems follow a traceable physical chain of distribution from the Defendants to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes, and any costs attributable to Windshield Wiper Systems can be traced through the chain of distribution to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes.

153. Just as Windshield Wiper Systems can be physically traced through the supply chain, so can their price be traced to show that changes in the prices paid by direct purchasers of Windshield Wiper Systems affect prices paid by indirect purchasers of new motor vehicles containing Windshield Wiper Systems and Windshield Wiper Systems purchased for repair purposes.

154. While even a monopolist would increase its prices when the cost of its inputs increased, the economic necessity of passing through cost changes increases with the degree of competition a firm faces. The OEM and dealer markets for new motor vehicles are subject to vigorous price competition. The OEMs and dealers have thin net margins, and are therefore at the mercy of their component costs, such that increases in the price of components such as Windshield Wiper Systems lead to corresponding increases in prices for new motor vehicles and replacement parts at the OEM and dealer levels. When downstream distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are in the case of new motor vehicles containing Windshield Wiper Systems as components, overcharges are passed through to ultimate consumers, such as the indirect-purchaser Plaintiffs and class members.

155. Hence the inflated prices of Windshield Wiper Systems both in new motor vehicles and those purchased for repair resulting from the Defendants' and their co-conspirators' bid-rigging and price-fixing conspiracy have been passed on to Plaintiffs and other class members by OEMs and dealers.

156. The economic and legal literature has recognized that unlawful overcharges in a component normally result in higher prices for products containing that price-fixed component. Two antitrust scholars – Professors Robert G. Harris (Professor Emeritus and former Chair of the Business and Public Policy Group at the Haas School of Business at the University of California at Berkeley) and the late Lawrence A. Sullivan (Professor of Law Emeritus at Southwestern Law School and author of the Handbook of the Law of Antitrust) – have observed that “in a multiple-level chain of distribution, passing on monopoly overcharges is not the exception: it is the rule.”<sup>4</sup>

157. As Professor Jeffrey K. MacKie-Mason (Arthur W. Burks Professor for Information and Computer Science and Professor of Economics and Public Certification), an expert who presented evidence in a number of indirect purchaser cases involving Microsoft Corporation, said (in a passage quoted in the judicial decision in that case granting class certification):

As is well known in economic theory and practice, at least some of the overcharge will be passed on by distributors to end consumers. When the distribution markets are highly competitive, as they are here, all or nearly the entire overcharge will be passed on through to ultimate consumers...Both of Microsoft’s experts also agree upon the economic phenomenon of cost pass through, and how it works in competitive markets. This general phenomenon of cost pass through is well established in antitrust laws and economics as well.

158. The purpose of the conspiratorial conduct of the Defendants and their co-conspirators was to raise, fix, rig or stabilize the price of Windshield Wiper Systems and, as a direct and foreseeable result, the price of new motor vehicles containing Windshield Wiper Systems and the price of Windshield Wiper Systems purchased for repair purposes. Economists have developed techniques to isolate and understand the relationship between one “explanatory” variable and a “dependent” variable in those cases when changes in the dependent variable are explained by changes in a multitude of variables, even when all such variables may be changing simultaneously. That analysis - called regression analysis - is commonly used in the real world and in litigation to determine the impact of a price increase on one cost in a product (or service) that is an assemblage of costs. Thus, it is possible to isolate and identify only the impact of an increase in the price of Windshield Wiper Systems on prices for new motor vehicles even though such products contain a number of other components whose prices may be changing over time. A regression model can explain how variation in the price of Windshield Wiper Systems affects changes in the price of new motor vehicles. In such models, the price of Windshield Wiper Systems would be treated as an independent or explanatory variable. The model can isolate how changes in the price of Windshield Wiper Systems impact the price of new motor vehicles containing Windshield Wiper Systems while controlling for the impact of other price-determining factors.

159. The precise amount of the overcharge impacting the prices of new motor vehicles containing Windshield Wiper Systems can be measured and quantified. Commonly used and well-accepted economic models can be used to measure both the extent and the amount of the supracompetitive charge passed through the chain of distribution. Thus, the economic harm to Plaintiffs and class members can be quantified.

160. In addition to the regression analysis discussed above demonstrating impact on consumers, the Department of Justice's Antitrust Division, which has been investigating anticompetitive conduct in the automotive parts industry for some time, has concluded that there is "no doubt" that consumers were hurt financially. Sharis A. Pozen, then the Acting Assistant Attorney General in charge of the Department of Justice's Antitrust Division said there is no doubt consumers were hurt financially by the automotive wire harness price-fixing conspiracy. "By rigging bids . . . [automotive parts manufacturers engaged in a price-fixing conspiracy] inflated what some of their auto manufacturing clients paid, and indirectly, what consumers paid for some cars,” Ms. Pozen said. She also explained that “[a]s a result of this international price-fixing and bid-rigging conspiracy, automobile manufacturers paid noncompetitive and higher prices for parts in cars sold to U.S. consumers.” Ms. Pozen also stated that “[t]his cartel harmed an important industry in our nation’s economy, and the Antitrust Division with the Federal Bureau of Investigation will continue to work together to ensure that these kinds of conspiracies are stopped.” Ms. Pozen went on to say that there was no doubt that United States consumers were hurt financially by price-fixing in the automotive parts industry. In a separate press statement, Ms. Pozen vowed to continue the investigation into “pernicious cartel conduct that results in higher prices to American consumers . . . .”

161. On February 15, 2013, Scott Hammond, the Deputy Assistant Attorney General in the Antitrust Division, discussed the DOJ’s ongoing automotive parts investigation in a Thomson Reuters article. He said “[t]he investigation is broader than what we’ve announced so far . . . . [The investigation] is still very much ongoing, but it already appears to be the biggest criminal antitrust investigation that we’ve ever encountered. I say the biggest with respect to the impact on U.S. businesses and consumers, and the number of companies and executives that are subject to the investigation.” (emphasis added).

162. On September 26, 2013, United States Attorney General Eric Holder in the Antitrust Division presented the DOJ’s most recent findings in the ongoing automotive parts investigation. He stated “[t]hese international price-fixing conspiracies affected more than $5 billion in automobile parts sold to U.S. car manufacturers. In total, more than 25 million cars purchased by American consumers were affected by the illegal conduct.” Holder also described how the conspiracies worked: “[c]ompany executives face to face in the United States and Japan – and talked on the phone – to reach collusive agreements to rig bids, fix prices and allocate the supply of auto parts sold to U.S. car companies. In order to keep their illegal conduct secret, they used code names and met in remote locations. Then they followed up with each other regularly to make sure the collusive agreements were being adhered to.” Attorney General Holder explained that the automotive parts conspiracies “targeted U.S. manufacturing, U.S. businesses and U.S. consumers. As a result of these conspiracies, Americans paid more for their cars.”

163. By reason of the violations of the antitrust law alleged herein, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have sustained injury to their businesses or property, having paid higher prices for Windshield Wiper Systems than they would have paid in the absence of the Defendants’ and their co-conspirators’ illegal contract, combination, or conspiracy, and, as a result, have suffered damages in an amount presently undetermined. This is an antitrust injury of the type that the antitrust laws were meant to punish and prevent.

PLAINTIFFS' CLAIMS ARE NOT BARRED BY THE STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS<sup>5</sup>

A. The Statute of Limitations Did Not Begin to Run Because Plaintiffs Did Not And Could Not Discover Their Claims

164. Plaintiffs repeat and re-allege the allegations set forth above.

165. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no knowledge of the Windshield Wiper Systems combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims arising from the alleged conspiracy to fix prices of Windshield Wiper Systems set forth herein, until (at the earliest) the public announcements of the government investigations into windshield wipers price-fixing began in July 2011.

166. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes are purchasers who purchased or leased automobiles or purchased Windshield Wiper Systems to replace or repair damaged or defective Windshield Wiper Systems in their automobiles. They had no direct contact or interaction with the Defendants in this case and had no means from which they could have discovered the <sup>5</sup> With respect to the motor component of a Windshield Wiper System, Plaintiffs had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest) September 26, 2013, the date that the DOJ publicly announced Defendant Mitsuba Corporation's anticipated guilty plea. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to September 26, 2013, the date that the DOJ publicly announced Defendant Mitsuba Corporation's anticipated guilty plea, that revealed sufficient information to suggest that the motor was among the price-fixed Windshield Wiper System components. Therefore, with respect to the motor component of a Windshield Wiper System, the statute of limitations did not begin to run because Plaintiffs did not and could not discover their claims, or in the alternative, because fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations, until September 26, 2013.

With respect to Defendant Bosch, Plaintiffs had no knowledge of the combination or conspiracy alleged herein, or of facts sufficient to place them on inquiry notice of the claims set forth herein, until (at the earliest), December 23, 2013, the date news sources reported that Defendant Bosch Electrical Drives Co., Ltd. had been fined by the KFTC for conspiring to price-fix windshield wipers. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to December 23, 2013, the date that news sources reported that the KFTC had fined Defendant Bosch Electrical Drives Co., Ltd. for conspiring to price-fix windshield wipers, that revealed sufficient information to suggest that Bosch was involved in a conspiracy to price-fix windshield wipers. Therefore, with respect to Defendant Bosch, the statute of limitations did not begin to run because Plaintiffs did not and could not discover their claims, or in the alternative, because fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations, until December 23, 2013.

Windshield Wiper Systems combination and conspiracy described in this Complaint before the public announcements of the government investigations began in July 2011.

167. No information in the public domain was available to the Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes prior to the public announcements of the government investigations beginning in July 2011 that revealed sufficient information to suggest that the Defendants were involved in a criminal conspiracy to price-fix and rig bids for Windshield Wiper Systems. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes had no means of obtaining any facts or information concerning any aspect of the Defendants' dealings with OEMs or other direct purchasers, much less the fact that they and their co-conspirators had engaged in the combination and conspiracy alleged herein.

168. For these reasons, the statute of limitations as to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims did not begin to run, and has been tolled with respect to the claims that Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes have alleged in this Complaint.

B. Fraudulent Concealment Tolled the Statute of Limitations

169. In the alternative, application of the doctrine of fraudulent concealment tolled the statute of limitations on the claims asserted herein by Plaintiffs and the Classes. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes did not discover, and could not discover through the exercise of reasonable diligence, the existence of the Windshield Wiper Systems conspiracy alleged herein until the public announcement of the government investigations into windshield wipers price-fixing began in July 2011.

170. Before that time, Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes were unaware of the Defendants' unlawful conduct, and did not know before then that they were paying supracompetitive prices for Windshield Wiper Systems throughout the United States during the Class Period. No information, actual or constructive, was ever made available to Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes that even hinted to Plaintiffs that they were being injured by the Defendants' unlawful conduct.

171. The affirmative acts of the Defendants alleged herein, including acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, were wrongfully concealed and carried out in a manner that precluded detection.

172. Specifically, as Attorney General Holder explained in connection with the DOJ's globally coordinated investigation into price-fixing in the Automotive parts industry, "[i]n order to keep their illegal conduct secret, [Defendants] used code names and met in remote locations."

173. Additionally, as set forth above, Defendant Mitsuba Corporation has pleaded guilty to obstruction of justice, admitting that it "altered, destroyed, mutilated, concealed, covered up, falsified and made false entries in records, documents, and tangible objects . . . that were likely to contain evidence of antitrust crimes in the United States and elsewhere."

174. By its very nature, the Defendants' and their co-conspirators' anticompetitive conspiracy was inherently self-concealing. Windshield Wiper Systems are not exempt from antitrust regulation, and thus, before July 2011, Plaintiffs reasonably considered the Windshield Wiper Systems industry to be a competitive industry. Accordingly, a reasonable person under the circumstances would not have been alerted to begin to investigate the legitimacy of the Defendants' Windshield Wiper System prices before July 2011.

175. Plaintiffs and the members of the Classes could not have discovered the alleged contract, conspiracy or combination at an earlier date by the exercise of reasonable diligence because of the deceptive practices and techniques of secrecy employed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators to avoid detection of, and fraudulently conceal, their contract, combination, or conspiracy.

176. Because the alleged Windshield Wiper System conspiracy was both self-concealing and affirmatively concealed by the Defendants and their co-conspirators, Plaintiffs and members of the Classes had no knowledge of the alleged conspiracy, or of any facts or information that would have caused a reasonably diligent person to investigate whether a conspiracy existed, until July 2011, when reports of the investigations into anticompetitive conduct concerning windshield wipers were first publicly disseminated.

177. For these reasons, the statute of limitations applicable to Plaintiffs' and the Classes' claims with respect to the alleged Windshield Wiper System conspiracy was tolled and did not begin to run until July 2011.

FIRST CLAIM FOR RELIEF
Violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act
(on behalf of Plaintiffs and the Nationwide Class)

178. Plaintiffs incorporate by reference the allegations in the preceding paragraphs.

179. The Defendants and unnamed co-conspirators entered into and engaged in a contract, combination, or conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act (15 U.S.C. § 1).

180. The acts done by the Defendants as part of, and in furtherance of, their and their co-conspirators' contract, combination, or conspiracy were authorized, ordered, or done by their officers, agents, employees, or representatives while actively engaged in the management of their affairs.

181. At least as early as January 2000, and continuing until at least the filing of this Complaint, the exact dates being unknown to Plaintiffs, the Defendants and their co-conspirators entered into a continuing agreement, understanding and conspiracy in restraint of trade to artificially fix, raise, stabilize, and control prices for Windshield Wiper Systems, thereby creating anticompetitive effects.

182. The anticompetitive acts were intentionally directed at the United States market for Windshield Wiper Systems and had a substantial and foreseeable effect on interstate commerce by raising and fixing prices for Windshield Wiper Systems throughout the United States.

183. The conspiratorial acts and combinations have caused unreasonable restraints in the market for Windshield Wiper Systems.

184. As a result of the Defendants' unlawful conduct, Plaintiffs and other similarly situated indirect purchasers in the Nationwide Class who purchased Windshield Wiper Systems have been harmed by being forced to pay inflated, supracompetitive prices for Windshield Wiper Systems.

185. In formulating and carrying out the alleged agreement, understanding and conspiracy, the Defendants and their co-conspirators did those things that they combined and conspired to do, including but not limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth herein.

186. The Defendants' and their co-conspirators' conspiracy had the following effects, among others:

(a) Price competition in the market for Windshield Wiper Systems has been restrained, suppressed, and/or eliminated in the United States;

(b) Prices for Windshield Wiper Systems sold by the Defendants and their co-conspirators have been fixed, raised, maintained, and stabilized at artificially high, non-competitive levels throughout the United States; and

(c) Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class who purchased Windshield Wiper Systems indirectly from the Defendants and their co-conspirators have been deprived of the benefits of free and open competition.

187. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class have been injured and will continue to be injured in their business and property by paying more for Windshield Wiper Systems purchased indirectly from the Defendants and their co-conspirators than they would have paid and will pay in the absence of the conspiracy.

188. The alleged contract, combination, or conspiracy is a per se violation of the federal antitrust laws.

189. Plaintiffs and members of the Nationwide Class are entitled to an injunction against the Defendants, preventing and restraining the violations alleged herein.

SECOND CLAIM FOR RELIEF

193. In formulating and effectuating this conspiracy, the Defendants and their co-conspirators performed acts in furtherance of the combination and conspiracy, including:

(a) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere during which they agreed to price Windshield Wiper Systems at certain levels, and otherwise to fix, increase, inflate, maintain, or stabilize effective prices paid by Plaintiffs and members of the Damages Class with respect to Windshield Wiper Systems sold in the United States;

(c) participating in meetings and conversations among themselves in the United States and elsewhere to implement, adhere to, and police the unlawful agreements they reached.

(c) For the purpose of forming and effectuating the unlawful trust, the Defendants and their co-conspirators have done those things which they combined and conspired to do, including but in no way limited to the acts, practices and course of conduct set forth above and the following: (1) Fixing, raising, stabilizing, and pegging the price of Windshield Wiper Systems; and (2) Allocating among themselves the production of Windshield Wiper Systems.
